

#1: The Limits of Conscientious Objection: When Pharmacists Refuse to Fill Prescriptions for Emergency Contraception
Friday, January 28, 2005 at Moos Tower 2-530 on the University of Minnesota East Bank Campus. Flyer attached.

515 Delaware Street SE, Minneapolis
12:15 - refreshments
12:20 - lecture

Kenneth F. Baum, MD, JD, and Julie Cantor, JD, co-authors of "The Limits of Conscientious Objection - May Pharmacists Refuse to Fill Prescriptions for Emergency Contraception,?" an article that appeared recently in the New England Journal of Medicine in November 2004, will present a lecture on that topic on Friday, January 28, in Moos 2-530 at 515 Delaware Street SE in Minneapolis. The lecture begins at 12:20 PM (refreshments at 12:15).

Information on directions and parking is available at <http://onestop.umn.edu/Maps/MoosT/>.

Dr. Baum completed a joint MD/JD program at Yale University School of Medicine and Yale Law School. Currently, he represents a variety of businesses and institutions in complex litigation, at both the trial and appellate levels. Dr. Baum lectures at Yale University on medical ethics and law and medicine.

Julie Cantor holds a law degree from the University of California at Berkeley's Boalt Hall School of Law and will receive her MD from the Yale University School of Medicine in May 2005. At Yale, she created and taught two undergraduate seminars - one exploring issues in reproduction, medical ethics, and the law; the other using literary works to inspire discussions on medical ethics issues.

This event is co-sponsored by the University of Minnesota Women's Center of Excellence and the Center for Bioethics.

University of Minnesota
Women's Health Center of Excellence
A National Center of Excellence in Women's Health
A605 Mayo Memorial Building, MMC 293